Gowrie Claims Services: Educating Municipalities Through Instructional Seminars

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE.
6/27/14, Marshfield, Massachusetts

Gowrie Claims Services, a division of Gowrie Group which specializes in claims management services to police officers and firefighters injured in the line of duty (IOD), announces continuation of its widely successful educational seminar series. Over the past 12 months, Gowrie Claims Services has hosted multiple seminars for Police Chiefs, Fire Chiefs, Town Administrators, and HR Directors throughout Massachusetts. These seminars focused on educating public officials about the challenging aspects that they face related to IOD claims.

The seminars were led by Retired Chief Roy McNamee EFO, now Managing Director of Gowrie Claims Services. Roy understands first-hand the difficulties associated with the management of IOD claims and continues to reach out to current Chiefs. Labor attorneys John Clifford and Jaime Kenney, as well as Dr. Michael Rater, joined Roy as guest speakers to help provide a deeper understanding of the complexities and risks associated with pre-employment evaluations and PTSD.

The most recent seminars hosted by Gowrie Claims Services were held in the towns of Hyannis, Concord, and Mansfield. Over 200 guests, representing 60 municipalities, were in attendance. One enthusiastic attendee stated, "The seminar was excellent....everyone was so informative and helpful." Growing interest for additional seminars has resulted in Gowrie Claims Services working to publish an expanded seminar schedule.

The Gowrie Claims Services team stands apart in their capacity to help cities and towns with IOD claims, assisting with the claims process, and understanding 111F. The well respected Gowrie team of Roy McNamee, Jeanne Entwistle and Marianne Hemphill offer support and management of all aspects of the IOD process for numerous cities and towns across MA and RI. As the team moves into their second year in their Marshfield Massachusetts location, they look forward to bringing their services and expertise to a growing client base of municipalities.
